HOKKAIDO STATION

The Hokkaido Station “wonders at its own small missionary force,” when the “vast unworked areas, the few Christians and the great needs” are considered. Their small force has been diminished by reason of the furloughs of Dr. and Mrs. G. P. Pierson, apostle and apostless of the Hokkaido, and by reason of the furlough of Miss Monk. However, Miss E. Evans, a 1911 recruit, joined the Station to work in the Hokusei Girls’ School, and has been busy with teaching and with study on the language. Miss McCrory will take up work in the same school.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—Hokusei Girl’s School is in Sapporo, and “this year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary.” “The school is a marvel of growth. Starting with six pupils, it now has an attendance of 110 pupils, commodious new buildings, and fairly good equipment. Its graduates are about to build a gymnasium.”
