Some conclusions : . . . The great value and success of Sunday School work is limited only by a dire lack, in our country churches, of good teachers. It is strange, if it is true, that if our girls' schools are chiefly to make Christians and develop Christian character, so comparatively few of our mission school graduates are ready to take up Sunday School or church work when they return to their country homes !

EDUCATIONAL

Sapporo, Hokusei Jo Gakko ( Girls' School ).--Of the 20 graduates of this year all but two are baptized Christians. It has been a disappointment that only three of the class have gone to higher schools. Two have gone into a bank, one has become a helper in the Otaru Presbyterian Kindergarten, and at least two are primary school teachers. One of the primary school teachers writes that there is one other Christian, and three who know about Christianity, so they are going to have meetings together twice a week. Two more girls are continuing their study here, and the rest are at home. The present seniors are few in number, but the quality is good, and they already are having a good influence over the younger girls.

The Shintokwai, a school society which has seniors for officers and representatives from each of the other classes, has taken a few more steps this year toward the self-government idea.

The Hokkaido girls are often more vigorous, and consequently rougher, than those in the south. They are of pioneer stock, good-hearted and strong-minded. Most of them love the out-of-doors.

Hokusei looks forward to a good year. Situated in the center of the city, she is cramped for room. Every available space here is used up. She hopes, however, that by next summer she may be able to move toward the mountains on the outskirts of the city, where she can expand, breathe, and skii [sic] to her heart's content.
