“LAST YEAR a rumor came that some Americans had said that they ‘would not go to a country whose hands were stained with the blood of Koreans.’ The hands of Japanese Christians are not stained ; neither they nor we, the missionaries, knew anything of what was going on till the American magazines and papers began to come in. Many do not even now fully realize the conditions. Instead of judging Japan, come over and help create a better atmosphere here. Please realize that Japan is not yet a Christian country ; Christian ideals cannot permeate such a great empire in sixty years.”
